

I don't feel any changes are needed to the no call list. There is nothing more aggravating than getting a telemarketer call at 8-9pm some of these people are darn right rude, and don't feel they have a right to call me at home. That's what the U.S. post service is for